APPROPRIATION MEASURES ARE MAKING SLOW PROGRESS

(By Associated Press.)

Madison—Appropriation measures are making slow progress through the legislature, only a small fraction of those which must be finally passed upon having been considered. The appropriations which total millions, such as those for the university, normal schools, and the board of control, have not yet been put before the legislature. With the session drawing to a close, members are calling on the joint finance committee to report out all measures as soon as possible, in order that a taxation bill may be drawn to take care of the state's budget.

Morgan Asks for Funds to Wage War on Profiteers

(By Associated Press.)

Madison—The legislature will determine its policy toward profiteers when it considers the committee on judiciary bill, drawn by Attorney General William Morgan, to give him broader prosecuting powers. The committee unanimously decided to introduce the measure. Appropriation is asked by Attorney General Morgan in order that he might employ a special investigator to carry out provisions of the proposed statute which will extend his authority over price fixing combinations.

Teachers' Retirement Fund Is Up Thursday

(By Associated Press.)

Madison—Teachers' retirement fund legislation will be considered by the senate Thursday morning, starting its course through the legislature. It is expected to be reported in the upper house where members are inclined to accept the report of the interim investigation committee. Strong opposition is already developing in the lower house because of the mill tax feature of the proposal.

50 PCT. OF BADGER CARS ARE FORDS, OVERLANDS NEXT

An analysis of the motor car registration in Wisconsin shows that out of 375,190 passenger automobiles licensed in 1920, 192,721, or more than 50 per cent, were Fords.

The most popular makes thereafter and the number licensed in Wisconsin last year were, Overlands, 19,604; Buicks, 19,502; Chevrolets, 14,094; Dodges, 5,501; Maxwells, 5,501; Studebakers, 5,297; 1921 Fords, 4,831; Olds, 2,502; Hudsons, 2,292; Dats, 2,194; Cadillac, 1,881; Paige, 1,771; Chalmers, 1,631; Buicks, 1,420; Packard, 1,420; Packard, 1,221; Kissel, 1,221; Case, 1,192. Other makes fell below the 1,000 mark.

The motor density in Wisconsin, ranking fifteenth among states in the Union, amounts to one car to every 5.5 persons. Compared with 1919 there was a gain of 62,922 cars or 29.2 per cent.

The national motor density charts show there is an automobile for every 11.4 persons. The Pacific coast and northwest territories have more cars in proportion to population than any other district.

There is a close race between South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska for the greatest proportion of automobiles per capita. South Dakota has one car for every 5.2 persons, practically an automobile to every family. Iowa has a machine to every 5.5 persons, and Nebraska a machine to every 5.9 persons.

Expect Federal Aid for Roads

Rock county will evidently receive federal aid for trunk line highway work for Washington dispatches declare that road improvement in the United States in 1921 will cost close to $600,000,000.

The federal government road authorities have suggested remedies to limit improved roads to certain specified weights and trucks. An appeal is being made by the government to the makers of automobiles to fit the trucks and motor vehicles to the limit of the roads instead of roads suitable for such heavy motor vehicles.

Under the Wisconsin system of trunk line highways, it works out that the county, state and government pay about the same. As a result both state and federal road engineers must pass on a project.

About 1,000 Bills Are Introduced Into Legislature

Madison—To date 957 bills have been introduced into the legislature, with enough new bills coming in this week to bring the number up to the 1,000 mark. This is a reduction over previous sessions, beginning that of 1917 when over 1,600 bills were brought in. Bills dealing with schools and education are the most numerous, 156 having been brought before both houses.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville—A horse attached to a buggy in which Mrs. Maria Howe and Mrs. Ella Rossiter were riding on Tuesday afternoon, became frightened and made a lively sprint through the town, stepping near the Allen store by running between another horse and a hitching post. The only damage done was the breaking of several dozen of eggs that were in the buggy. Dr. Forbush and family arrived from New York City Monday afternoon, having made the trip by auto. Dr. Forbush will attend to some matters of business here and then return to complete his year's study. The Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. R. Pearson. Picnic lunch was served. Charles Taylor and Will Tomlin transacted business in Deloit Tuesday. Reno Egan has engaged with the Light and Power company. The concrete for the foundation for the Jacob Blumer barn is being poured. Work is being rapidly rushed—Levi Buttress is building an addition to his residence.

PASTOR CLEARED IN DIVORCE CASE

Delavan, Wis.—The Rev. Charles Wesley Boag, Methodist pastor of Delavan, has been cleared of charges of unfair conduct in a divorce case.

It was explained in testimony in court that when Dr. Evans left for France for war service he asked the minister to keep watch over his wife and that it was in the interval between that time and the divorce proceedings that the Rev. Mr. Boag took an active interest in the welfare of the wife of the overseas veteran. Judge Gehrz in one of the longest and most unusual decisions ever made in a divorce case, declared that the testimony showed that the relations of the accused couple were utterly unclouded and that their acquaintance and association.

BADGER INVENTOR HAS EXHIBITS IN MADISON MUSEUM

In 1855, while tilling wheat by hand in his father's wheat field, 15-year-old John Francis Appleby conceived the idea of mechanically tying the bundles with twine. At that time the grain was commonly tied together with strands of straw. This was slow work, and young Appleby's fertile mind soon began to devise some means for doing the work in an easier way.

Started Before War

After three years of experimentation a successful knoter was perfected and a working model made in June, 1858, in the gun shop of Harvey Pierce at Talmara, in Walworth county.

Appleby continued his experiments on binders and in 1874 he, with associates, Charles H. Parker and Gustavus Stone, comprising the Deloit Reap Binder Builders, tried out the first wire binder. But farmers and millers soon objected to this method of grain binding because the wire in the thrashed straw killed the cattle that ate it, and the fine bits of steel caused explosions in the flour mills.

Many binders sold. The binder manufacturing industry was threatened, when, after repeated efforts and much opposition, Mr. Appleby succeeded in adapting his twine tying knoter to the machine.

So successful was this that in the summer of 1878 the Deloit company built and sold 15 binders, distributed in Texas, Kansas, Ohio, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

This opened a new era in grain production, since the production was heretofore almost entirely limited by the amount that could be harvested, and now two men could harvest as much grain in a day as 20 by the old method.

Through the efforts of W. B. Stone, a close friend, Mr. Appleby was induced to present his original model to the State Historical society, where it may now be seen resting in the glass case in the south wing of the museum.

RICHMOND

Richmond—Arthur Steward was a business visitor in Elkhorst last week. Mrs. Annie Delaney has been visiting in the city for several days. Clifford Smith and his sister, Mrs. Mark Calkins were in Milwaukee Saturday and Sunday visiting their mother-in-law, Mrs. Gladys.

Nothing has been heard here of a serious contest so far for the office at Janesville but many applicants are said to be ready when the time comes.

From the standpoint of political recommendation Henry Allen Cooper is looking after the interests of the district. Senator Lyndall has told all applicants for all jobs in the district that the matter is entirely in the hands of Mr. Cooper.

Over in Whitewater there has developed a serious contest for the postoffice and it may be settled by holding an election.

PLANTING OF CORN BEGINS IN COUNTY

Favored by good weather, rock county farmers are working in the fields planting corn this week. The first corn around Janesville indicates that the county will have a record acreage planted in corn.

Fully one-third of the corn will be planted by the end of this week. The remaining areas will be planted by May 21. Farmers have taken unusual precautions to prepare the soils for corn planting. The majority of the growers planting large fields of corn have used new implements for culturing the surface.

Rain Needed Now.
Rain is needed badly for both corn and the growing small grains. The lack of rain is a serious matter in the county to Southern Wisconsin. It is declared.

"Much has been said and written about weather—but I notice no one ever changed it yet," wisely remarked one grower discussing the need of moisture for the growing crops. Farmers are taking interest in the township soil acidity tests which are being made in Union. The object is to determine each farmer in the township with how much lime he needs on every 40 acres to correct acidity of his soil. There will be nine limestone crushers at work in Rock county, to supply the farmers with pulverized lime at about $2 a ton.

Union Soil Tests.
The township tests will be continued to other districts. The Union township analysis proves successful. County Agent R. T. Glasco, C. E. Culver, secretary of the Farm Bureau, and Cliff Richards, Madison, on Tuesday distributed the seeds to the school children in each district. The students were given instructions on aiding the farmers to obtain samples of every 40 acres of land. A plot is selected representing the average of the 40 acres. From this plot, five samples from this one tract are taken by scraping off about one inch, the samples coming from the next two to four inches. The seeds are labelled and are to be gathered on or before May 15. Tests will be made both at the university and in the office of the county agent.

Urgent is Plentiful.
The summer demonstration at the Wisconsin university farm is to be held on June 28, according to information furnished by the county agent, Wednesday. Rock county farmers will be urged to bring their crops to the demonstration.

For the first time this year there is an adequate supply of farm help. There are still positions open which pay from $35 to $45 a month, with the average at $40.

GERMANY GIVES UP UNCONDITIONALLY
man minister to Great Britain, here Tuesday.

Mr. Lloyd George announced in the house of commons Germany's complete acceptance of all the allied demands. His announcement was greeted with prolonged cheering. Mr. Lloyd George declared the news to all the governments concerned.

FRENCH OFFICIALS DISCUSS ULTIMATUM.
Paris—Premier Briand, the ministers of war, finance, marine, public works and liberated regions, Marshal Foch and General Weyland, with President Millerand Wednesday morning to discuss measures necessary for the execution of the demands prescribed in the allied ultimatum to Germany on May 3.

Satisfaction in French official and political circles over the acceptance by Germany of the terms of the allied ultimatum was qualified by the smallness of the majority in the Reichstag in favor of such acceptance, and the feeling here that the German situation is most unstable. It was reported in official quarters that the French forces on the Rhine will be maintained at sufficient strength to materially evident terms of the ultimatum. Many deputies today exchanged views regarding the prospective assault upon the cabinet of Premier Briand and the movement in the chamber which is dissatisfied with the decisions of the last London conference.

WASHINGTON RELIEVED BY GERMAN ACTION
Washington—Administration officials expressed satisfaction over the decision of the German government to accept the terms of the ultimatum. It is known an invasion of the Ruhr valley by the allied forces would have been regarded by this country with deep concern, although the allies had been assured this country would stand with them. Marked relief was indicated when it became evident that Germany by acceptance had averted the adoption of such a measure.

At the State Capital

(By Associated Press.)

Madison, Wis.—The legislative session is beginning to grind more rapidly now than at any time in the past. The session is well advanced and the work and are reporting out their bills. Discouraged by their success in giving final disposition to many important measures last week, both houses are facing a heavy calendar this week with the determination not to delay action on bills except when absolutely necessary.

Senator Benney's bill to prohibit political parties from giving extra compensation to members of the legislature in any form whatever will be passed upon this week. This measure is being opposed by the socialists.

The bill providing for the registration of nurses and better control of nursing schools by the board of health is upon this week. This bill is being strongly supported by the law, which fixes railway fares at two cents a mile.

Work of the committee appointed to investigate the joint finance committee this week. Consideration will be given to the land surtax bill introduced by Assemblyman Grimsd and which was sent to the finance committee of the lower house without recommendation.

The bill was drafted by Prof. John R. Commons, a well-known economist, and its scope is indicated by its title "to provide a surtax on the right to use and to enjoy land values in excess of $10,000 and in excess of the value of improvements, preparation costs, standing timber, and fertility."

According to W. H. Edwards, chairman of the assembly taxation committee, the Grimsd bill if passed, would drive practically all of the out-of-town land in Upper Wisconsin upon the market.

The finance committee will also scrutinize the bill exempting homesteads from the value of $2,000 from taxation, provided that the settlers develop raw, unimproved agricultural land. This bill has the backing of Assemblyman Gummer and Summer and is intended to encourage more rapid settlement of the out-of-town lands of the state.

Senator Arnold's bill tripling inheritance taxes has been bulletined for a hearing before the finance committee on Friday.

No date has been set for a hearing by the finance committee on the Severnson bill providing for a surtax on incomes. The Connat substitute amendment to the Severnson bill, the Arnold income tax measure, and the Dahl income tax bill which has as its main provision the repeal of the personal property offset.

Senate Finance's joint resolution denouncing recognition of the Irish republic will be heard before the state affairs committee of the assembly on Wednesday. This resolution passed the senate with only five votes and it is after a more moderate substitute had been refused endorsement by a tie vote. Conservative leaders in the lower house declare that they will oppose the resolution in its present form.

AT WASHINGTON
Issuance of a new set of treasury certificates totalling $200,000,000 was announced.

Shipments of fruit via the Panama canal have reached New York three days quicker than by the transcontinental railroads.

Attorney General Daugherty announced he was considering asking congress for an army cantonment for a training institution for young men sentenced for first offenses to federal prisons.

The army appropriation providing for 100,000 men was passed by the house.

The nation's foreign trade continued to fall off in April, figures made public by the department of commerce show.

The army appropriation bill passed by the house Tuesday was sent to the senate military committee for study. An attempt will probably be made to increase the number of enlisted men above the 150,000 provided for by the house.

HEALTH BOARD TO MEET THURSDAY

Farmers within a radius of several miles of Janesville are urged to attend a special meeting of the health board of health to be held in the city hall at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. The meeting will be open to Janesville citizens as well.

The purpose of the gathering is to reach some definite decision as to what will be done toward disposing of the city's garbage, collection of which is due to start next week. Four trailers having been purchased by the city to carry out the project. Farmers have been asked to submit bids but none has so far filed any definite offer although several have indicated their desire to take a portion of the supply.

The hope of the board of health, as expressed by the secretary, Harry Garbutt, is for a big turn-out of farmers and the submission of bids Thursday night. The contract may be let that night.

The trailers are due to arrive here from the Highway Trailer company, Edgerton, this week. Arrangements are being made to have the street department trucks make a trip to the city and haul the vehicles back. Four thousand green cards for distribution throughout the city are now in the hands of City Clerk E. S. Wells and are being given out to people who have provided their premises with metal garbage cans.

SMALL FIRE SEEN

BY NOON CROWDS

The upper floor is rented by May Thomas E. Welch for a tobacco warehouse. A spark from a passing engine set the roof on fire, doing small damage.

The department was out at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon called by an alarm from box 35 on Milwaukee avenue pulled by boys who saw a kettle of tar, being used in street work, boil over. A small fire was extinguished Monday at the home of Frank W. Western avenue and South Franklin.

COAL STRIKE CAUSES INDUSTRIAL SHUT-UP

(By Associated Press.)

London—Indications of the seriousness of the coal shortage caused by the miners' strike, in progress since April 1, is furnished by an announcement that the shipbuilding and engineering works at Barrow, employing 150,000 men, will close entirely at the end of next week unless coal mining is resumed. The iron and steel works already are shut down. The total of unemployed on the register of the labor exchanges at the end of April totaled 1,355,500 with the number working on short time totalling 1,077,000. These figures are exclusive of 1,200,000 idle miners.

It is estimated each day of the stoppage of coal mining adds 15,000 people to the unemployed list.

Contractors Stand Out

Firm Against Strikers

Oshkosh—Building contractors in this city are firm in their decisions not to come to terms with their striking union workmen unless the employer accept the cost proposed. The master builders, in keeping with their declaration that they would operate on an open shop basis, the contractors are now engaging carpenters without regard to union affiliation and are running building work as fast as they can get the help. The same thing is being done by the painting and decorating contractors.

CHAPTER XXX.

So while Myra in the city tried to draw Tim's affections away from Ruth, Ruth was feeling as if she had a great deal to offer him. But meantime, how was Myra succeeding?

She laid her plans with the cunning that even the dullest woman has at her command. There were three elements in her plan. First, she was to be a perfect friend to Ruth. Second, she was to be a perfect rival to Ruth. Third, she was to be a perfect lover to Tim.

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 19 years old, graduated from high school and business school and am now employed at a fairly good salary. I cannot understand myself. I do not think I am contented when I say that I am contented in my home town as one of the best looking girls. I am always stylishly dressed and neat and clean. I try to make it a point to be friendly and pleasant on all occasions, always have a smile for all my acquaintances, and yet people, especially boys, stand in awe of me. All the boys and young men in town are polite to me, always tip their hats nicely and speak and smile, but that is all. My girl friends tell me that I am one of the nicest girls in town, good-looking, etc. Could it be that I am too nice?

I realize that I am not like other girls. I have never loved a boy. I sometimes think I am not capable of love. I cannot stand sentiment nor will I listen to flattery. Am I too particular? Every one has his own idea of love and sentiment. Mine is that there is a true love for everyone who will come in time. For that reason I will not listen to light love making from boys. Am I right? DO NOT. Girls of your age are very often introspective. Do not analyze your motives so carefully. People are very much alike in spite of their differences. Take it for granted that you are just as you are and that they are just as they are. Be satisfied.

It is decidedly a mistake to be "swayed" by whole school. Do you think you are what people say. Believe what you yourself hear and see. Only two of the nice things people have said are exaggerated for the purpose of flattery. Be as sweet, gentle and charming as you can, and accept as cheerfully as possible what life offers to you. You cannot force conditions to come your way, but you can be happy under the conditions which do come. Give the love to the world that you so crave, and sometimes you will find the heart. As you give love you will grow more lovable. Be charitable. Never condemn other girls for listening to tales of love. You cannot judge what you would do under like circumstances until you experience such circumstances yourself.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 16, in the eighth grade and ready for high school. Do you think I am old enough to have beaux and have rolls on my ears, and boy friends walk home with me from parties? BLUE EYES. You are too young to have beaux. Rolls on the ears are not becoming. The result is a distorted shape of the head. An older member of the family should take you home from evening parties. It would be all right, however, to let a boy walk home with you from an afternoon party. "Entertainers": It is impossible to give space to the planning of entertainments and parties. Think the matter out yourselves. There is nothing more charming than originality.

A DAY'S RECIPES
Graham Cakes—Two tablespoons brown sugar, two cups sour milk, one teaspoon of soda dissolved in the milk, a little salt, flour to make moderately stiff. Use about two cups of graham flour and one cup of white flour. Bake in pan in a quick oven 12 to 15 minutes.
Apple and Date Salad—Two apples, half dozen dates and a few nut meats are chopped fine and mixed with three tablespoons of salad dressing. The dressing is made by adding slowly to two well beaten eggs one small can of condensed milk, stirring all the time, one cup of vinegar, teaspoon of salt. Do not cook. This dressing may be kept for a week or two in a cool place.
Pork Chops and Potatoes on Casserole—Fix the potatoes in the casserole same as escaloped potatoes, but do not add the milk. Lay the pork chops on top of potatoes, salt and pepper them and pour over this enough water to reach half the dish. Bake in oven until meat and potatoes are soft done.

HOUSECLEANING HINTS
Cleaning Screens—A good way to make old screens look new and new is to wash frame. Get black paint, or any kind you prefer, and paint on both sides. The paint, pretty thin, is not to fill up little squares in screen. This not only improves looks of screen, but keeps it from rusting so much and it will last for several seasons.
To Clean and Polish Windows—Wipe pane with damp cloth to remove dust, and polish with a chamois skin which has been wrung very dry from a pan of warm water. It is instantly done and window is brilliantly polished.
La Croix—Word has been received that George Burton, Trempealeau county farmer, who disappeared after leaving his car in a public garage at Oshkosh, is in Canada.

What Shall I Do?
Answered by VIRGINIA PAGE

"Dear Miss Page: A boy friend has asked me to be his 'sweetheart' and I don't know what to tell him. I like him better than any boy friend I have. I am 14—Anxious."

Tell him you will be a sister to him. Dear. You are years too young to be anybody's sweetheart, and if you want to keep on liking this boy and having him like you, keep him as a friend and forget the "sweetheart" part.

A Fireside Companion:
Dear Miss Page: "I am 18 and for two years have been going with a boy in the same high school. He always bothers to see me when he doesn't have to spend any money, but when there are basketball games, entertainments and dances that call for money, he never asks me—I have to stay home while my girl friends enjoy themselves. There are other boys I know would ask me, but they think my friend has already. I would be different had he no money, but I know he has. What shall I do?—Pinky."

Since time was, Pinky woman has been solving the problem of a virgin who is opposed to the girls who make a man spend too much, more than he should; but I just as violent on the subject of boys who won't spend enough.
Refuse to make some of the stay-at-home dates; this is to wake him up to the realization that you may have other interests. Then when he gets to some Thursday, say "No, I won't go. I can't have you then. I want to go to the basketball game—of course if you care to go too, you can come for me." If he should have the nerve to ignore or decline your suggestion, I'd try it once more like this: "No, I have an engagement Friday, but what do you say to Saturday? You come over for supper and let's go to the dance."
If he falls you then, Pinky, I'd forget him. Because if you should finally drift into marriage, he would be sure to remind you of the time he gave you for spending money well before last.

Nothing His Home:
It is entirely proper, M. A. P., for you to visit at the summer home of your boy friend. Indeed, it is expected that when you have come to an understanding, his mother will invite you to visit to his prospective member of the family.
On Holding Hands:
"Dear Miss Page: It seems to be the custom in our town to hold hands in picture shows. Our mothers don't seem to object, but I have heard that it isn't done in large cities. I want to do the right thing, so I would like to know what you think.—Anxious."

I must admit that it is quite as much the custom in large cities as small to hold hands in picture shows with certain types of boys and girls. But that does not make the custom a proper one. It is exceedingly unbecoming. Anxious to indulge in any exhibition of the emotions in public, whether the emotion be anger, sorrow, love or just lovelessness. I am surprised and somewhat disappointed in your mother, if you understand them correctly. That pastime commonly known as "sponging" in any and all of its phases, is both undignified and unwise in private, in public it is both of these and vulgar in addition. Don't.

"You know that wasn't the reason. You did it because she stopped in the middle of the sentence. It had occurred to her that this subject was more dangerous even than silence."

"I did it because he was the man you were going to marry," he said. "They moved side by side through the shadows. In the faint light he could make out the fine line of her exquisite throat. After a moment she spoke. 'You're a good friend, Clay. It was a big thing to do. I don't know anybody else except Dad that would have done it for me.'"

"You don't know anybody else that loves you as much as I do."

It was out at last, quietly and without any dramatics. The flash of light came to him, then he veiled the shining tenderness beneath long lashes. She paced a little faster, chin up, nerves taut.

"I've had an attack of common sense," he went on, and his voice was patient. "I thought at first I couldn't hope to win you because of your fortune and what it had done for you. Even when I knew you liked me I wouldn't be fair for me to ask you. I couldn't offer you the advantages you had. But I've changed my mind. I've been watching what money does to the friends it makes the soil. They flutter around like butterflies. They're paupers—a good many of them—because they don't pay their way. A man's a tramp if he doesn't pay for his breakfast. I don't want you to get like that, and if you stay here long enough you sure will. It's in my heart, that if you'll come with me we'll live."

Is Uric Acid Making You Ill?

Have you wondered what is causing you to feel so weak and tired—so "blue" and nervous? It may be uric acid. You have probably eaten too much meat which has filled your blood with uric acid, weakened your kidneys and caused that wearying backache, the headaches, dizziness and other bad feelings. Don't wait for serious trouble. Lighten your diet and use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands recommend them. Ask your neighbor.

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It.

In the year of 1891 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-Acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know for over three years. I tried remedies after remedies, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, and of them several to thirty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send to any other place for a name and address, and I will send it free to you. After you have used it, you will know yourself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism. You may end the price of it—One Dollar, but understand I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied or even if it isn't that fair. Why suffer any longer, when relief is thus offered you free of charge? Write to: Mark H. Jackson, 655-C Durston Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y. responsible. Mark H. Jackson, 655-C Durston Bldg., Syracuse, N. APPROACHING SUMMER VACATION WILL BE A BUSY TIME, IT SEEMS

By Our Club Reporter

(Editor's Note: The subject of this article is a good one for a contribution. Write with typewriter, if possible. If you can't use pen and ink, write on one side of the paper only. State the subject—What I Plan to Do This Vacation—and don't use more than about 250 words.)

"What are you going to do this summer vacation—work?" I wrote to a boy friend of mine who lives in Dallas, Texas. He and I have corresponded for about two years.

"I haven't really decided yet," reads a part of the letter I have received in return. "But I think I'll get a job at our grocer's. I was talking with him several days ago and he mentioned he could use a helper around the store if he could just get one."

There is another "letter friend" of mine living just outside San Francisco, in answer to my question of how he was going to spend his summer vacation, he said: "I am going to my summer school. I want to finish up my sophomore year before school starts in the fall, and summer school, I guess, will keep me hopping every minute of the time."

My sister, who is a freshman in high school, tells me she has applied for a position as clerk in a bakery store near our home. That will keep her pretty busy, I suppose.

"I'm going to take care of my garden," said one boy I met on the street. "I have a pretty big garden, and you know a garden needs some pretty careful attention, so I think I'll be doing the right thing by spending all my spare time with the rake and hoe."

"I've got all that arranged," answered an eighth grade girl at one of the public schools. "I'm going to be my mother's helper. There's plenty of things to do around my home to keep me busy every minute of the day."

But the fact that about it all in this busy time when I put the question had planned something for summer vacation, and not a one, not a single one, told me he or she was "just going to play" and fool around a little.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

The second state to adopt the Constitution was Pennsylvania. Its area of 45,120 square miles is larger than the combined New England states except Maine.

With New Jersey thrown in for good measure, its name means "Penn's Woodland" and was so named by King Charles II, who granted this territory to the Quaker, William Penn, and named it in commemoration of Penn's father, who had been a distinguished admiral and on terms of peculiar friendship and intimacy with the royal family. This grant was made in lieu of £16,000, which the king owed Admiral Penn. On this basis it originally cost about $2 a square mile.

Pennsylvania has assumed such an important place among the states that it is often called the Keystone state.

"I FOUND IT AT LAST," SHE CRIES

"For many years," began Mrs. A. Engelhorn, 1015 Michigan ave., 23 Ford st. La C., Wis., Friday, "I have been a constant sufferer from stomach troubles." Although I was always doctoring myself, I grew weaker instead of better. It just seemed that everything I ate disagreed and turned to gas causing a heavy black feeling. Naturally I would feel weak and run down. I always felt tired.

"Kozak was recommended. Well, it proved to be just what I needed. It not only cured my stomach trouble, gave me a fine appetite but built me up like new. Yes, Kozak is a wonderful remedy and I am telling all my friends about what it did for me." Kozak, the new discovery, that seems to quickly restore weak, nervous run-down folks to strong, healthy vigorous men and women, is sold exclusively by People's Drug Co., Jackson Bldg., Monroe, Ark.; Edgerton, Atwell-Dallmann, Adv.

Billy Whiskers

His wrath up, Billy charged and hit the pumpkin in the stomach. Evidently one round was enough for the dignified Pumpkin Man, for over he tumbled, and what a fall it was!

Arms, legs, body went flying this way and that. It seemed he had no real backbone at all! His head rolled forward, his body back, and arms flew sideways. Such a wobbly, make-believe man! Unfortunately, Billy's horns caught the head as it fell and hooked the ample, grinning, impudent mouth. Billy shook himself to free him of the burden, but that merely served to make the pumpkin man settle down more securely. There was a mighty thundering roar of amusement from the spectators of this little comedy, and at the sound, Billy, at once went back to his duties, turned with but one thought, and that was to escape from the scene of this encounter and his disgrace.

But no sooner did he wheel about than he saw all backs—not one person in the whole crowd was brave enough to face him, and they were making undue haste to fly from the building before the goat should take it into his ferocious brain to charge them as he had the "pumpkin head."

These in the lead did not know what was the real trouble, for moment by moment they were joined by others from different parts of the hall. There was a perfect babel of cries: "Fire! Fire!"

Those on the outside, seeing unmistakable evidence of excitement, were just as anxious to gain entrance as those inside were to get out, such is the perverseness of the human race.

Dinner Stories

A Salina man tells this as happened in his home. Early in the morning one winter's day, came a wife from a friend in Chicago. "How's the weather today out there?"

"The sun is shining," the Salina man replied. "I had the pumpkins today. Yes, sir."

(Thursday Billy saves his dinner.)

"MY LIFE" —BY— MARY PICKFORD

(Begins May 28th in The Gazette)

At Last—the Authentic Autobiography of the Most Popular Moving Picture Star in the World as Told by Herself to Hayden Talbot, the Well-Known Journalist, Who Was Sent by Lord Northcliffe Nearly Six Thousand Miles from London to Los Angeles to Get "OUR MARY" to Tell Her Own Story in Her Own Way.

Other writers have written about Mary Pickford from second-hand knowledge. This is the first authentic biography of the little million-dollar star whose smiling face is known the world over and whose name is a household word.

Mary's Own Story

To induce Miss Pickford to narrate word for word the story of her remarkable career, Lord Northcliffe sent Hayden Talbot from London to Los Angeles. It was Mr. Talbot who some years ago came to America to get Roosevelt to talk for London papers. Mr. Talbot was the first journalist to enter Germany after the war, after which he wrote a remarkable series of articles. In the first installment of the series he tells how Mary Pickford was persuaded to give him her story.

Miss Pickford tells in her own words how her widowed mother did sewing and kept roomers; of her stage debut at the age of five; how she jumped from one night's stand to another, living in cheap hotels and sending home half her pay.

At the age of eight she used to go to a canvas heaven every night—she died on the stage of a small-time theatre. On pay day the manager pushed $30 across the counter, half of which sum she sent home to her mother.

For two seasons Mary who was known at the time as Gladys Smith, worked during the summer with Carnival shows at funny little country fairs in the small towns of New England.

She tells dramatically of her first meeting with a strange man who gazed down into her eyes with a gimlet-like stare and who was destined to influence her career—David Belasco.

She talks frankly of speaking contemptuously to David Griffith of the movies. She intended to work for them during the summer months only and then go back to the legitimate stage. The tawdry bareness of the movie studio appalled her. The lights, the warmth of the audience—all that goes to make the stage of the spoken drama human—tugged at her lonesome little heart.

But destiny and David Griffith ruled otherwise. He took the slip of a fifteen-year-old girl into his confidence and inspired her, almost against her will, into becoming a movie star.

In this series Mary confesses that she is a poor little-rich girl. Dollars look as large to her now as they did fifteen years ago and she works just as hard to get them. She tells her philosophy of finance and how she dreads ever having everything she wants.

The concluding installments of the series tell of her biggest and latest adventure of all—and how it feels to be Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks.

These and many other incidents, told in Mary Pickford's own charming, frank and simple way, make a story of pathos, humor and heroism that will touch the heart and rouse the admiration of every reader.

The Janesville Daily Gazette has bought the rights for the story. It will appear in ten installments of a page each, Beginning Saturday, May 28. Are you taking the Gazette?

STATE MAY ACT TO REGULATE TRUCKS

Legislature Starts Hearings, Results of Petition From Rock County Board.

As a direct result of action taken by the Rock county board a bill is to be introduced in the state legislature to classify roads according to their carrying capacity and limiting the load to suit. The intent of the measure is to prevent the destruction of Wisconsin highways as a result of careless and heavy truck traffic.

The county board during its recent session adopted resolutions urging the passage of such state laws and ordered District Attorney S. C. Dunwiddie to prepare a bill for county ordinance to regulate trucks on the good highways of the county. The supervisors held that the overloaded and heavy trucks are not only wearing out the roads but are also interfering with the normal traffic.

Under the proposed state law, Class A roads would include those upon which any motor vehicle is not to exceed 12 tons should travel. Class B highways would include those upon which any power vehicle with its load not to exceed six and one-half tons could travel. Under the proposed law, all those Class C roads and B. This proposed law is the major highway measure pending before the session.

Truck owners and truck manufacturers have appeared before the committee with the assertion that the adoption of the law would cripple them.

The Rock county board sent communication to the legislative members of this district to use their influence for the passage of the bill.

Glassco Says He Should Work in Interests of Farm Bureau

An issue has cropped up over the control of work by the county agricultural agent based on his relations with the Farm Bureau organizations. The Rock county agent, R. T. Glassco, has not yet signified his intention of retaining the office here established after the county board committee after the county board present schedule the county agent is made responsible to the county board committee and paid entirely through the county.

The Wisconsin policy of controlling the policies and work of an agricultural agent are to be threshed out during a two day session of agents to be held in Rhinelander during August. Oneida county was the first in Wisconsin to adopt the law and establish a county agent's office.

The Rock county situation is explained in a statement made by R. T. Glassco.

Many Wrong Opinions.

"As a large number of people have various opinions as to my future relations with the Farm Bureau, if I continue as county agent of Rock county, I wish to make the following statement. The attitude that some farmers and citizens have taken in this regard is due to their misconception of the Farm Bureau in its relation to the county agent," said Mr. Glassco.

"In 17 states a Farm Bureau is organized before a county agent is put to work. Through this farm organization, the county agent is able to do more efficient work in most states, the state, national and county money being directly into the Farm Bureau treasury and the county agent is controlled by the executive board of the bureau.

"The Farm Bureau in Wisconsin has not gone forward with the impetus that it has in other states for the simple reason that the county agents in Wisconsin are reluctant to take up an organization which threatens to deprive him of his job without assisting him in his work.

"In no other state has the county agent been regarded as separated from the Farm Bureau. It is ridiculous for Wisconsin to try to establish this precedent. Other states have found the close relation of the county agricultural agent and the Farm Bureau to be advantageous to both."
